ABOUT ME:

Exposure and time have taught Trina how to build strong relationships with who she is serving. Whether that be corporate partners or non-profit partners. Her hope is that together they may grow and elevate the Columbus community.

Trina is determined to convince others that all people deserve resources, guidance, encouragement, autonomy, and quality to succeed. She works closely with a diverse population in order to help community members take thoughtful and educationally informed steps to create a better life for: themselves, their dependents, and their community through financial education and literacy.

When not in the office or conducting financial literacy opportunities for Columbus SEGs, Trina enjoys baking, spending time with her family, and staying active in her community.
